

Understanding and Responding to School Refusing Behavior

Alison Wycoff

Shoreline School District Truancy Specialist

Alison Wycoff – 10 years at Shoreline Schools, 4 years as a Behavior Technician and 6 years as Truancy Specialist. I have worked closely with our Student Services team as well as several community partners, including Children’s Hospital, on developing a standard, tiered response to School Refusing Behavior. I have a Bachelor’s degree from Whitman College and am an active member of my community where I live, raise my children and working.
